

Urban Studies

Why Study Cities?

We live in a rapidly urbanizing world

Why Study Cities?

places of opportunities

- Power
- Innovation
- Lifestyle
- Amenities
- Jobs
- Infrastructure

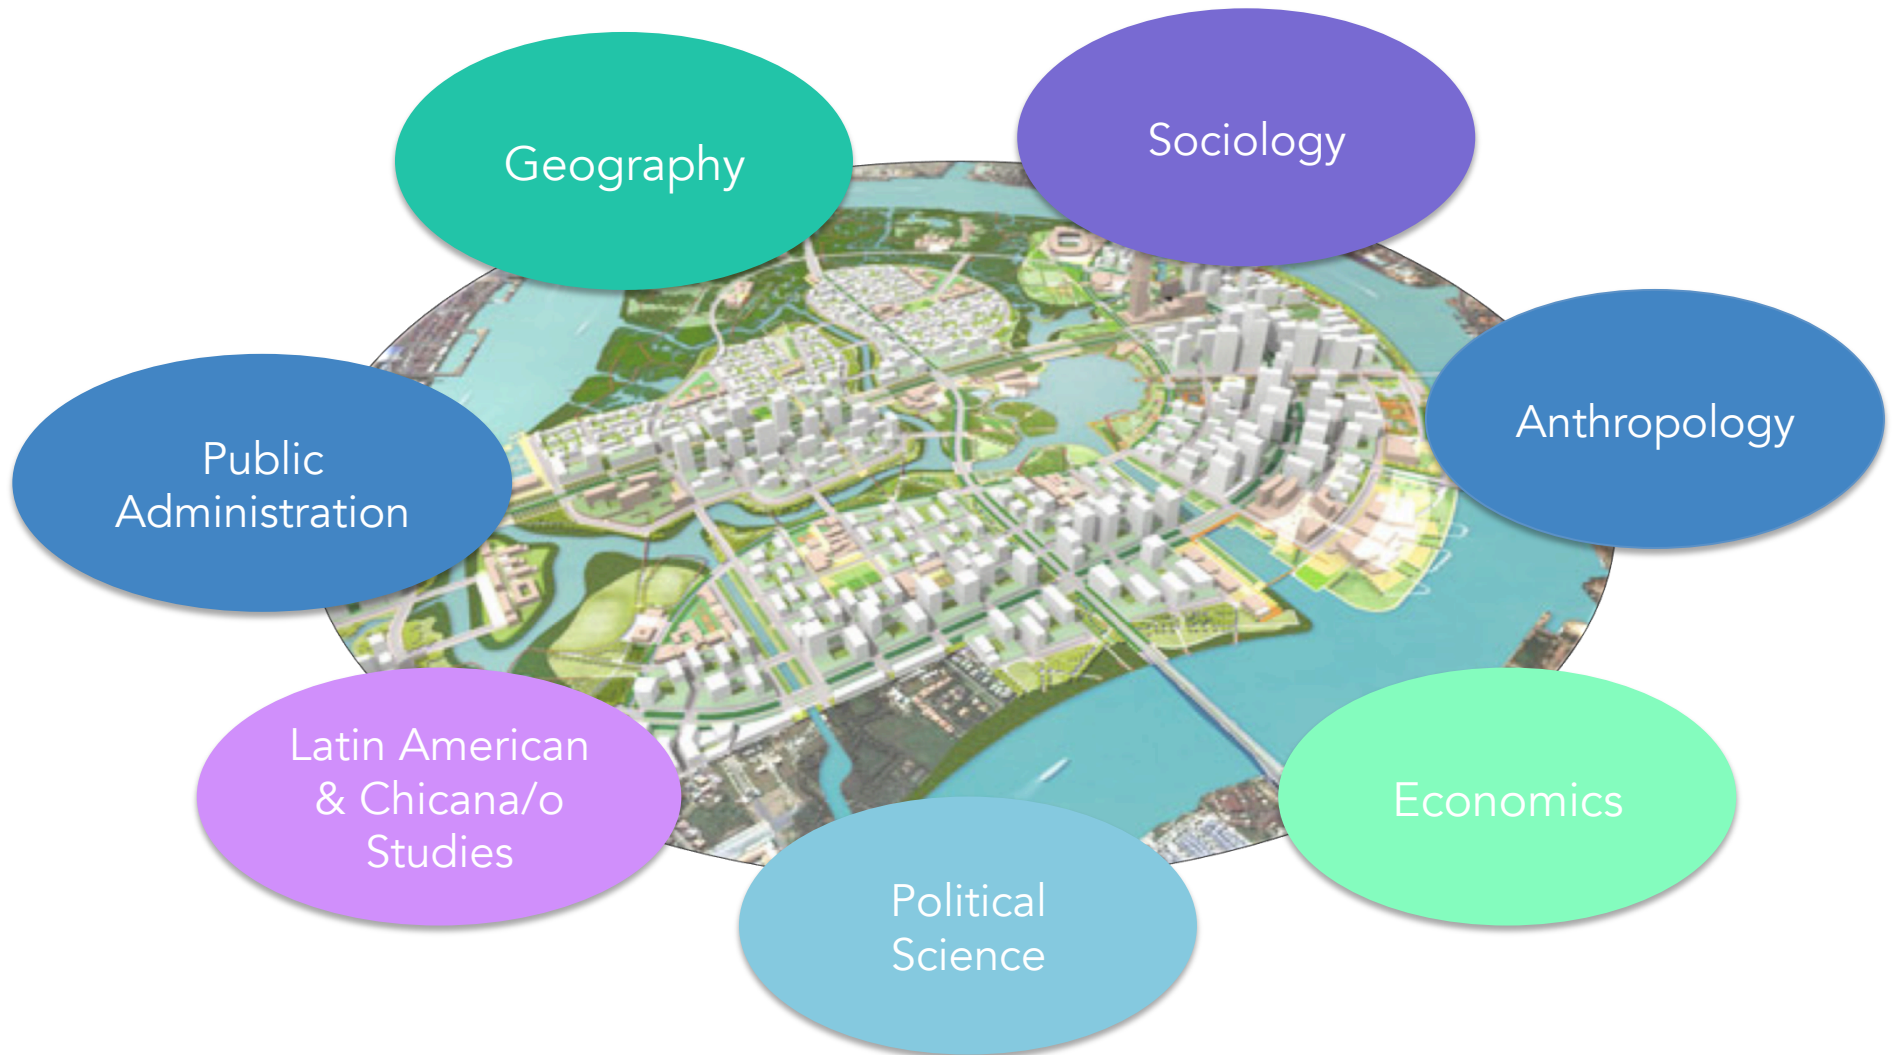

sites of contemporary problems

- Pollution and climate change
- Social inequality
- Disease, stress
- Crime

“To build a better world, we need to build better cities”

An Interdisciplinary Program

Four Areas of Specialization

Urban Political Economy
and Public Policy

Urban Culture and Society

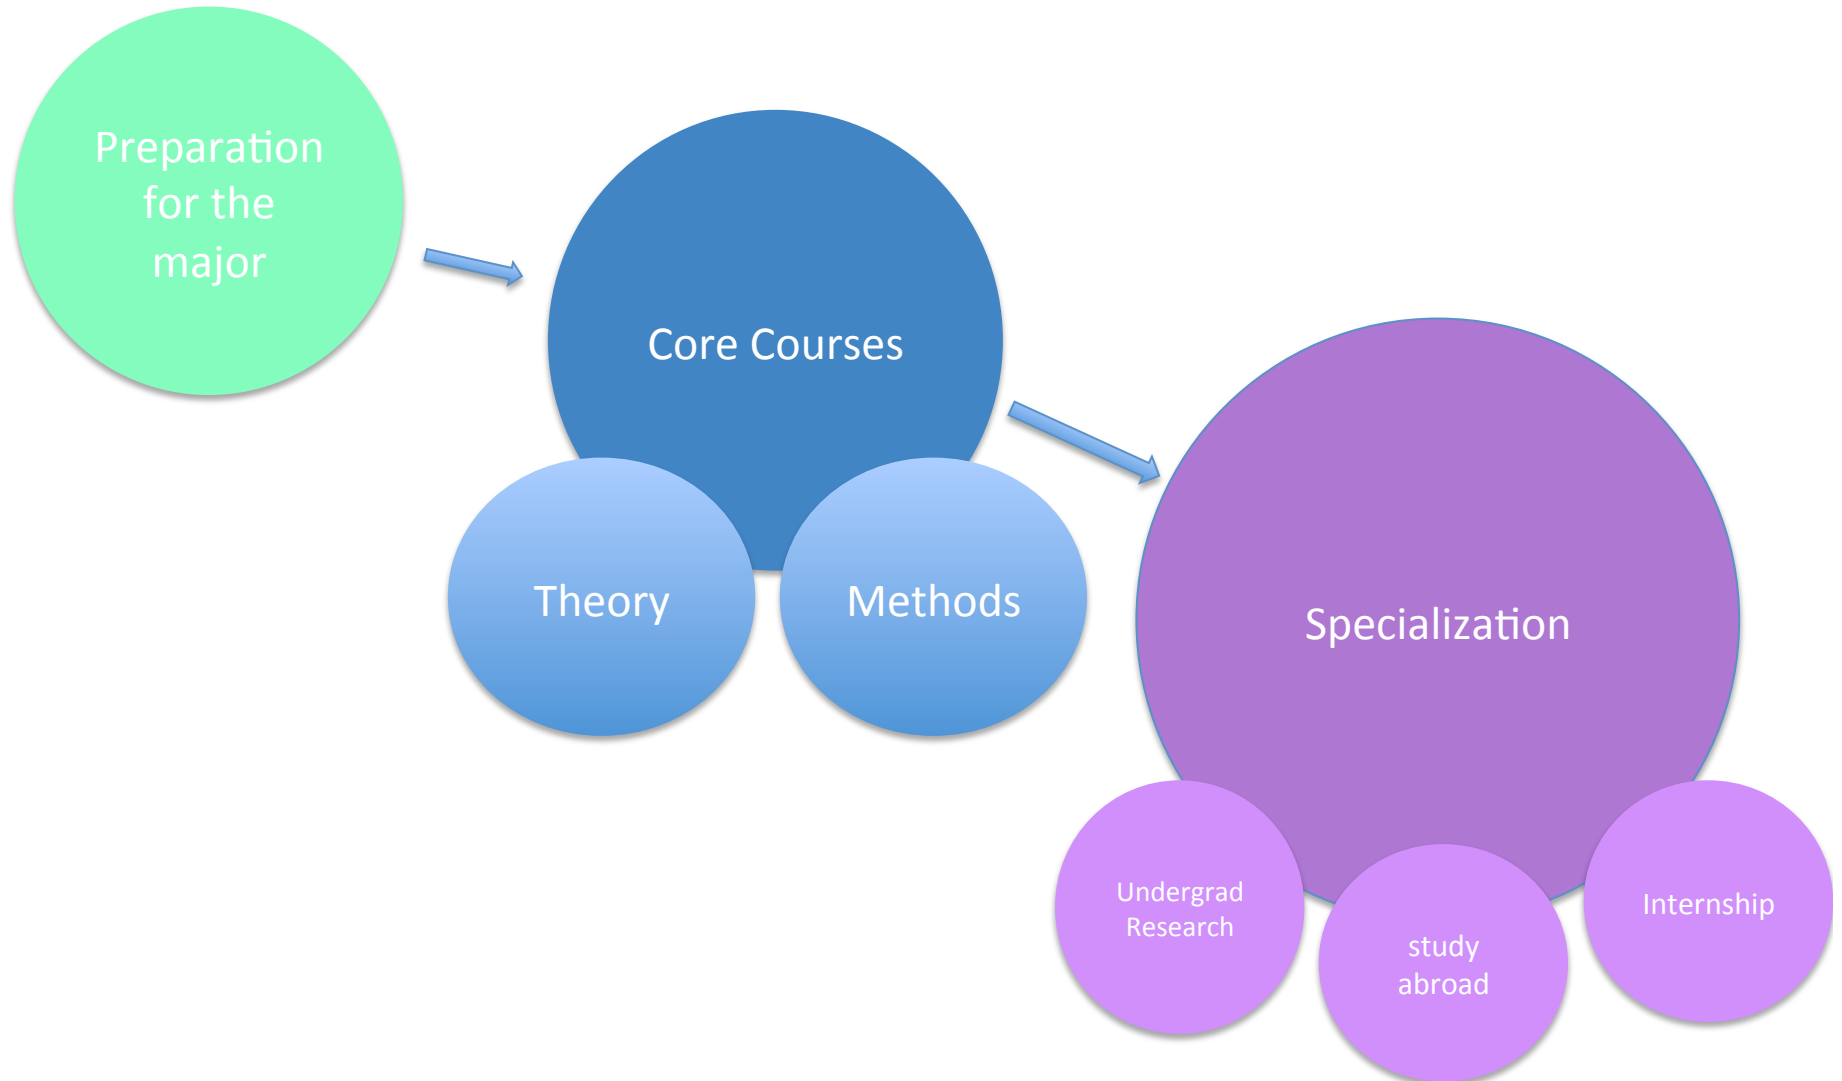

Urban Sustainability

Urban Planning, Design, and Management

Curriculum

Careers

Private Sector

Business Development
Manager
Economic Development
Analyst
GIS Specialist
Land Developer
Market Researcher
Realtor
Urban Designer
Community Relations
Specialist

Public Sector

City Manager
City/Urban/Regional Planner
Community/Economic Development Director
Director of Housing
Development
Housing Planner
Land Use Planner
Legislative Research
Analyst
Public Administrator
Social Worker
Transit Analyst
Transportation Planner
Zoning Administrator

Nonprofit Sector

Community Organizer
Nonprofit
Administrator
Outreach Coordinator
Grant Writer
Policy Analyst
Public Policy Director
Research Associate

Questions?

Contact:

Pascale Joassart-Marcelli
Director and Adviser
Urban Studies Program
pmarcell@mail.sdsu.edu

Visit:

[http://
urbanstudies.sdsu.edu](http://urbanstudies.sdsu.edu)